

Episode 54 - World Teachers' Day - Various guests

#054 - I dedicate this episode on World Teachers' Day to all the teachers out there and wish to thank them for all that they have done. Thank you for all the time and energy you put into preparation of lessons, for dealing with the stress and emotional turmoil that comes with teaching kids, and the ticking off of boxes to keep everyone happy! I thank you! In this episode we listen to a variety of guests of varying ages, who share with us something they wish to thank their teacher for, or for something positive that they remember about their teacher. This is a heart-warming episode that makes you proud to be a teacher!!

